

Take a Trip Through Time

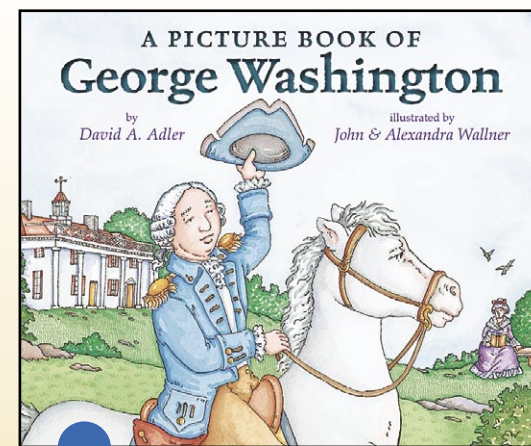

with the David A. Adler Picture Book Biographies

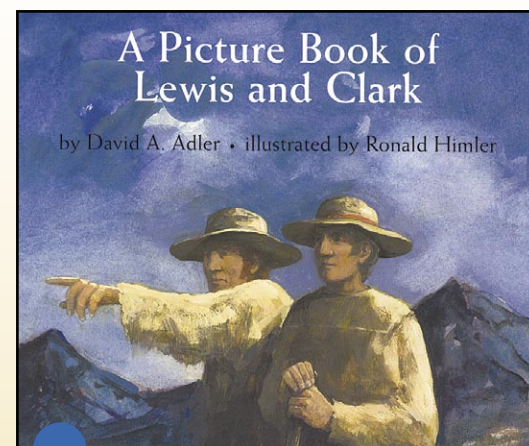

Christopher Columbus lands in the New World.

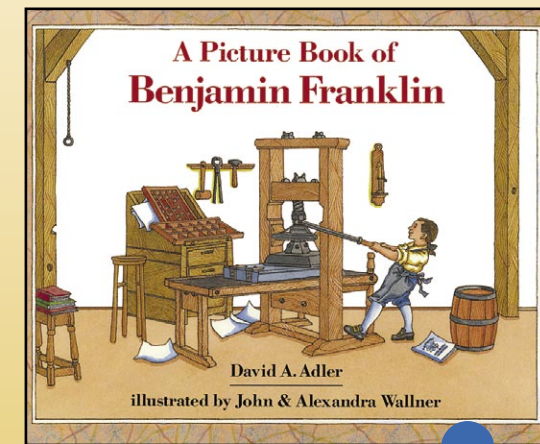

Patrick Henry proclaims at the Virginia Convention, "Give me liberty or give me death."

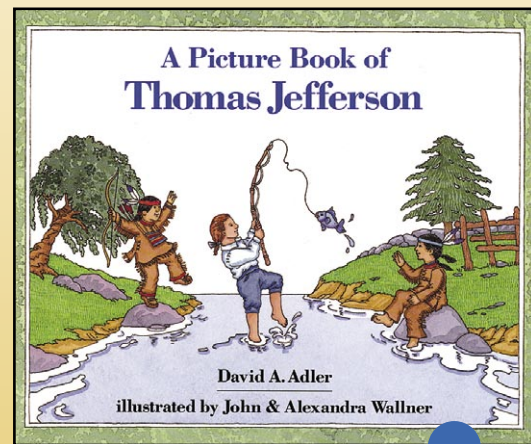

George Washington is elected the first president of the United States.

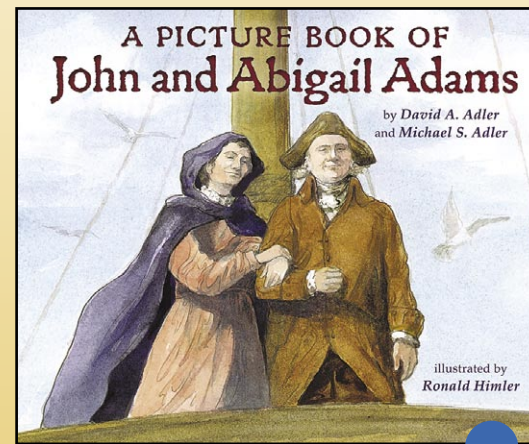

President Thomas Jefferson sends the Corps of Discovery, led by Meriwether Lewis and William Clark, to explore and survey the Louisiana Territory, and they reach the Pacific Ocean in 1805.

Benjamin Franklin begins publishing Poor Richard's Almanack.

Thomas Jefferson writes the Declaration of Independence.

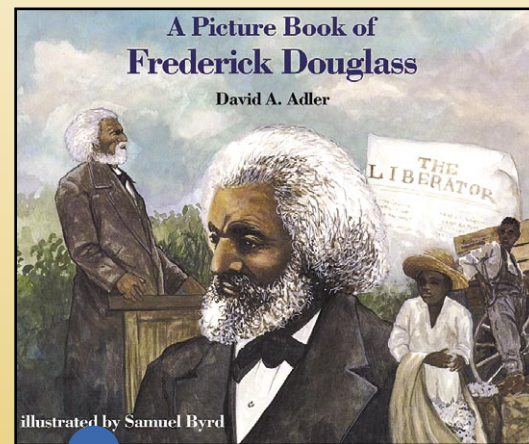

The second president of the United States, John Adams, and his wife, Abigail, move to Washington, D.C., the nation's new capital.

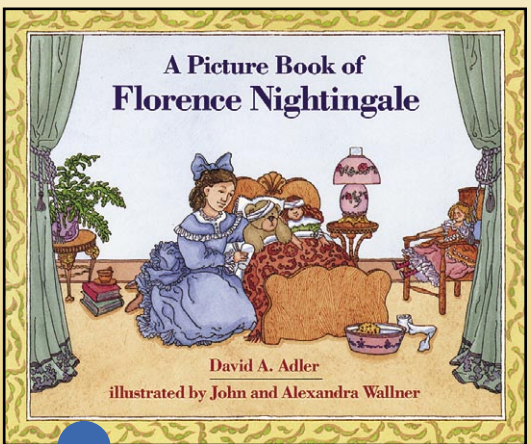

During the winter, Sacagawea joins the Lewis and Clark expedition.

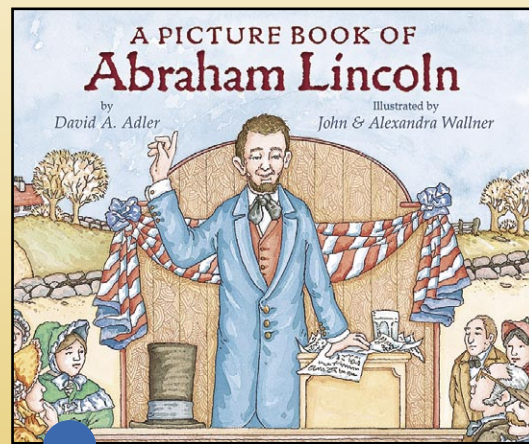

Sojourner Truth travels across Northern states preaching against slavery and for women's rights.

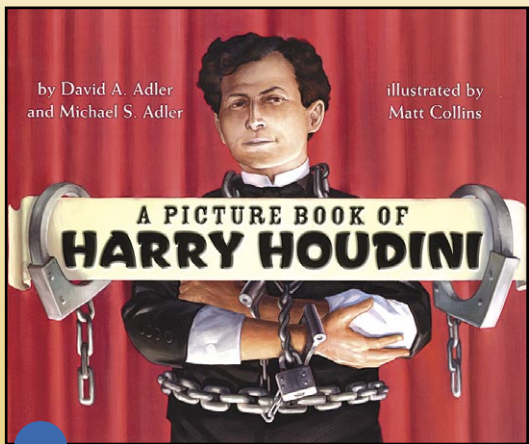

Frederick Douglass publishes his own anti-slavery newspaper called The North Star.

Florence Nightingale begins her life's work, which resulted in making nursing an important, respected profession.

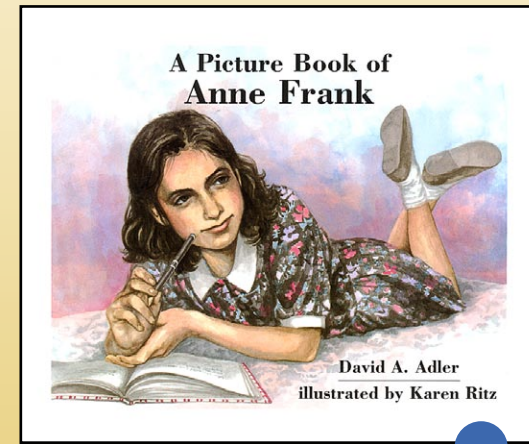

President Abraham Lincoln delivers his Gettysburg Address.

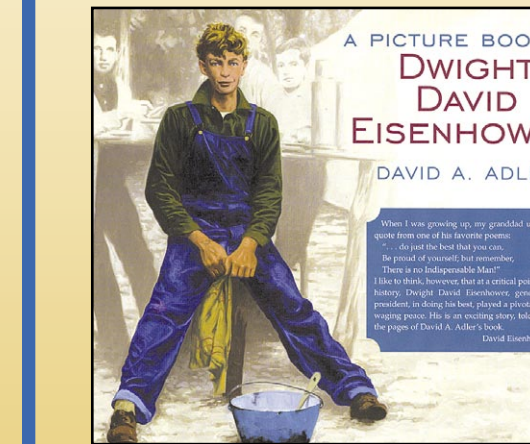

Illusionist Harry Houdini makes a 10,000-pound elephant and her trainer vanish.

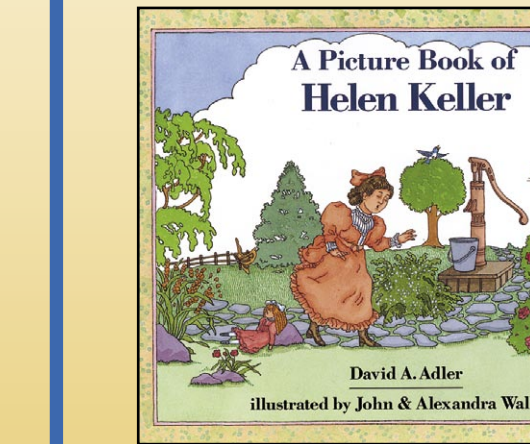

Thomas Alva Edison, inventor of the lightbulb, dies at the age of eighty-four.

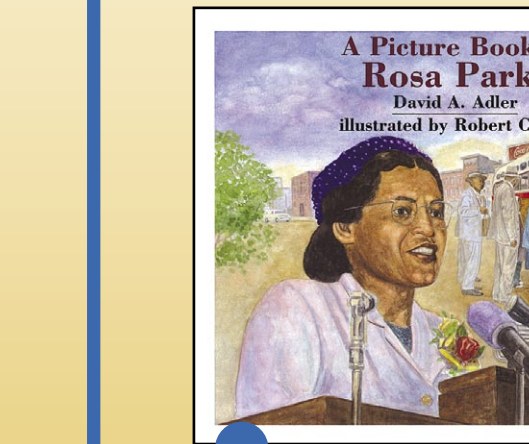

Anne Frank receives a book of blank pages for her thirteenth birthday and makes it into her diary.

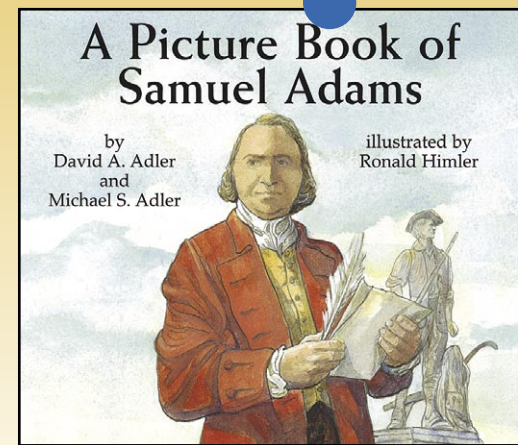

President Dwight David Eisenhower sends federal troops to Little Rock, Arkansas, to enforce school integration.

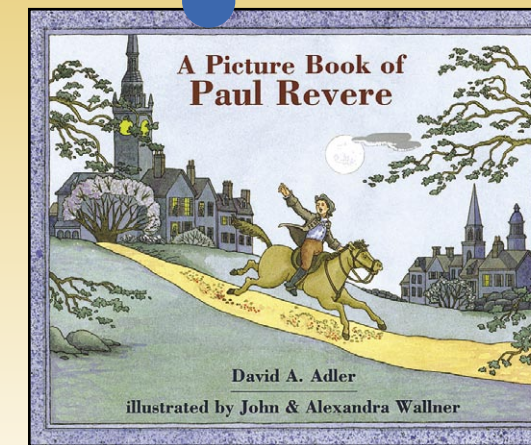

Helen Keller receives the Presidential Medal of Freedom.

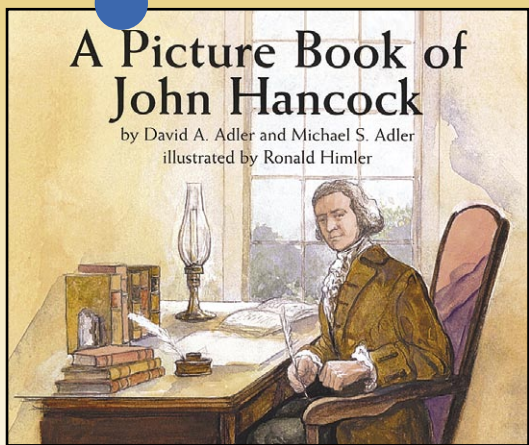

Rosa Parks, integral to the Montgomery bus boycott (1955–1956), is awarded the Presidential Medal of Freedom.

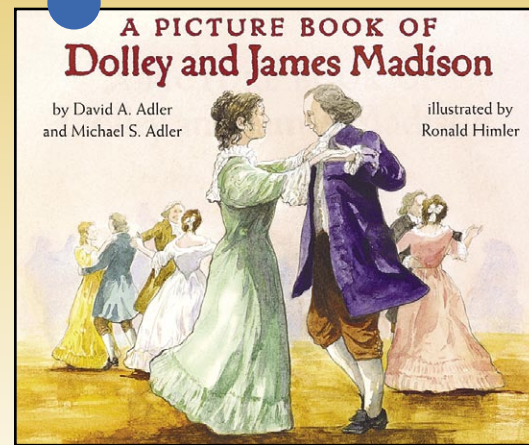

Samuel Adams is born in Boston, Massachusetts. This American Patriot organized the Boston Tea Party in 1773.

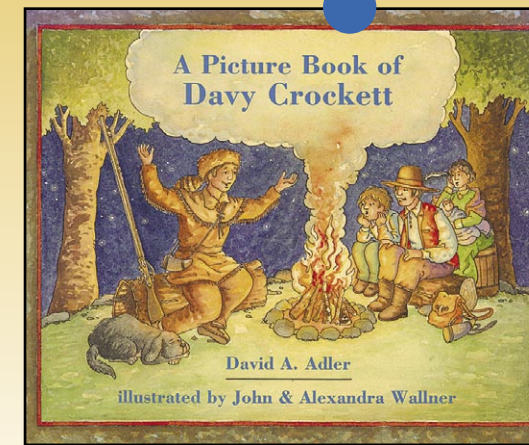

Paul Revere rides to Lexington, Massachusetts, to deliver the news that the British are coming.

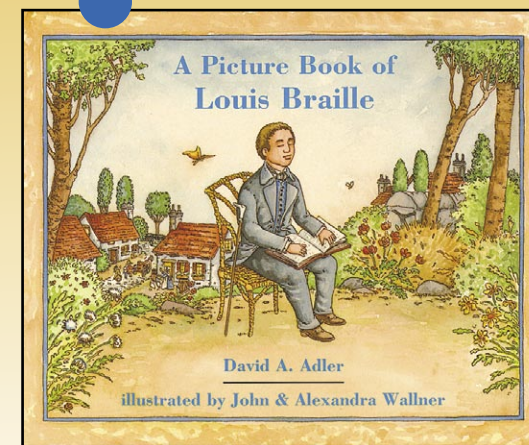

John Hancock, as president of the Second Continental Congress, is the first to sign the Declaration of Independence.

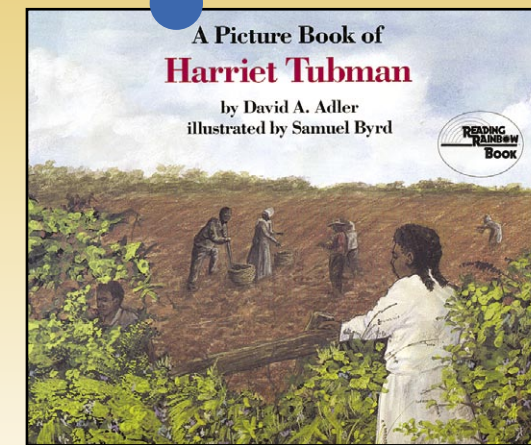

James and Dolley Madison marry; the fourth president of the United States was nicknamed the Father of the Constitution while his wife, a respected hostess, earned the nickname Queen Dolley.

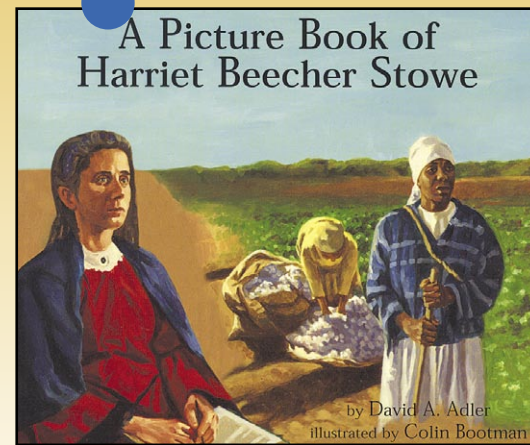

Davy Crockett is elected to the U.S. House of Representatives; he is reelected in 1829 and 1833.

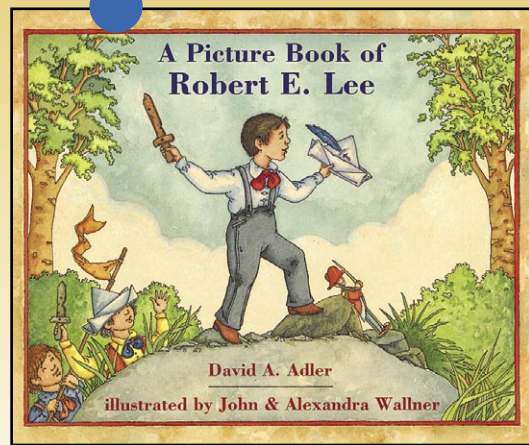

Louis Braille invents braille, a raised dot alphabet, to help blind people communicate.

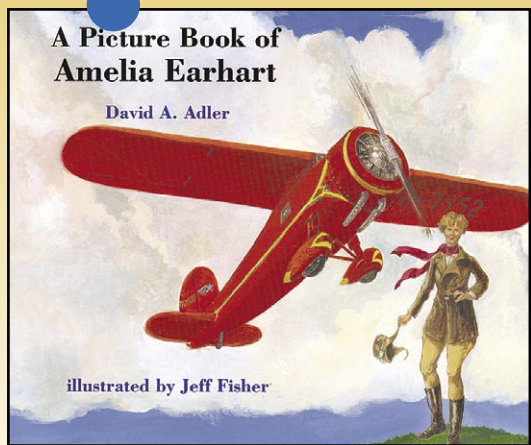

From 1850–1860, Harriet Tubman, as a "conductor" on the Underground Railroad, makes nineteen trips to the South, leading a total of about 300 slaves to freedom.

Harriet Beecher Stowe, author of Uncle Tom's Cabin, meets President Abraham Lincoln.

Robert E. Lee surrenders his forces to General Ulysses S. Grant at Appomattox Court House in Virginia.

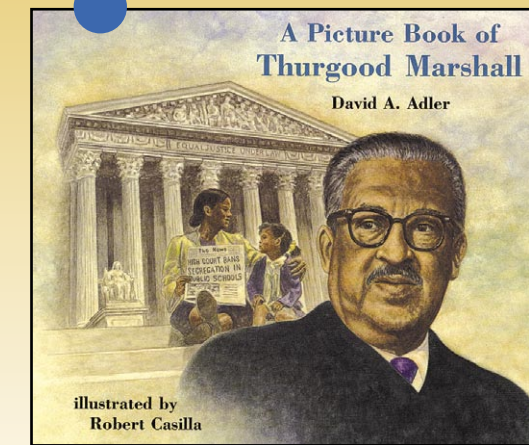

Amelia Earhart becomes the first woman to fly alone across the Atlantic Ocean by air.

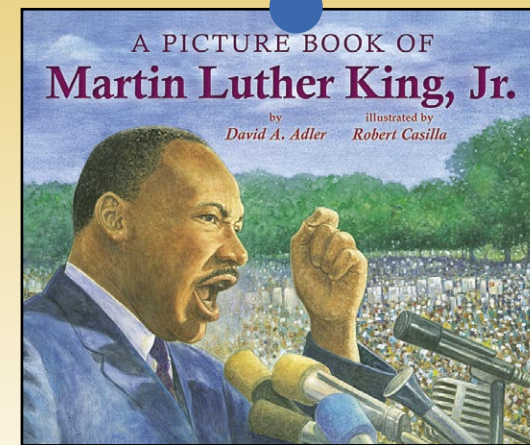

Eleanor Roosevelt serves as First Lady of the United States from 1933–1945.

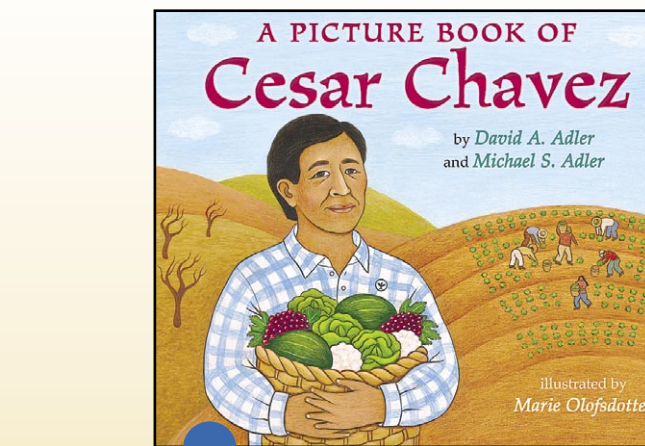

George Washington Carver is awarded the Theodore Roosevelt Medal for Distinguished Research in Agricultural Chemistry.

Thurgood Marshall wins Brown v. Board of Education of Topeka. This case led to the end of school segregation.

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. leads the March on Washington, D.C., and gives his "I Have a Dream" speech from the steps of the Lincoln Memorial.

Cesar Chavez, who formed the National Farm Workers Association (NFWA) in 1962, begins a twenty-five-day fast to ensure his grape protest remains nonviolent.

For more about David A. Adler's books and to download an educators' guide, visit the Holiday House website at www.holidayhouse.com

*Click on Free Materials